

Online shopping has been continuing to be the dominating force for retail, and we are anticipating the holiday season to bring in even more business. We are constantly reaching out to more affiliate websites and have even established some commission agreements. We are also expanding to add on global affiliates like Amazon.

Our coding process was super smooth with our puzzle game applications – dGame and aGame. dGame is a speed based puzzle game, and aGame is more strategy based. Each of them has super minimalistic user faces and instructions are in Turkish and English. These are ready to launch on iOS and Android. We're all already competing with each other and addicted to the games, which is a great sign.